containing more than fifty essays by major literary scholars international postmodernism divides into four main sections the volume starts off with a section of eight introductory studies dealing with the subject from different points of view followed by a section that deals with postmodernism in other arts than literature while a third section discusses renovations of narrative genres and other strategies and devices in postmodernist writing the final and fourth section deals with the reception and processing of postmodernism in different parts of the world three important aspects add to the special character of international postmodernism the consistent distinction between postmodernity and postmodernism equal attention to the making and diffusion of postmodernism and the workings of literature in general and the focus on the text and the reader i e the reader s knowledge experience interests and competence as crucial factors in text interpretation this comprehensive study does not expressly focus on american postmodernism although american interpretations of postmodernism are a major point of reference the recognition that varying literary and cultural conditions in this world are bound to produce endless varieties of postmodernism made the editors hans bertens and douwe fokkema opt for the title international postmodernism postmodernism has become the buzzword of contemporary society yet it remains baffling in its variety of definitions contexts and associations beginning postmodernism aims to offer clear accessible and step by step introductions to postmodernism across a wide range of subjects it encourages readers to explore how the debates about postmodernism have emerged from basic philosophical and cultural ideas with its emphasis firmly on postmodernism in practice the book contains exercises and questions designed to help readers understand and reflect upon a variety of positions in the following areas of contemporary culture philosophy and cultural theory architecture and concepts of space visual art sculpture and the design arts popular culture and music film video and television culture and the social sciences an analysis of the way postmodern novels respond to changes in the experience of time at last everything you ever wanted to know about postmodernism but were afraid to ask hans bertens postmodernism is the first introductory overview of postmodernism to succeed in providing a witty and accessible guide for the bemused student in clear and straightforward but always elegant prose bertens sets out the interdisciplinary aspects the critical debates and the key theorists of postmodernism he also explains in thoughtful and illuminating language the relationship between postmodernism and poststructuralism and that between modernism and postmodernism an enjoyable and indispensable text for today s student the postmodern chronotope is an innovative interdisciplinary study of the contemporary it will be of special interest to anyone interested in relations between postmodernism geography and contemporary fiction some claim that postmodernism questions history and historical bases to culture some say it is about loss of affect loss of depth models and superficiality others claim it follows from the conditions of post industrial society and others cite commodification of place disneyfication simulation and post tourist spectacle as evidence that postmodernism is wedded to late capitalism whatever postmodernism is or turns out to have been it is bound up in rethinking and reworking space and time and paul smethurst's intervention here is to introduce the postmodern chronotope as a term through which these spatial and temporal shifts might be apprehended the postmodern chronotope constitutes a postmodern world view and postmodern way of seeing in a sense it is the natural successor to a modernist way of seeing defined through cubism montage and relativity the book is arranged as follows part 1 is an interdisciplinary study casting a wide net across a range of cultural social and scientific activity from chaos theory to cinema from architecture to performance art from it to tourism part 2 offers original readings of a selection of postmodern novels including graham swift's Waterland and Out of This World peter ackroyd's Hawksmoor and First Light alasdair gray's Lanark j m coetzee's Foe marina warner's Indigo caryl phillips Cambridge and don delillo's The Names and ratner's Star in her study of postmodernism in recent quebec fiction janet paterson attempts to answer three main questions is there a postmodern quebec novel what are its forms what are its sites of interrogation the book looks at the works of hubert aquin madeleine ouellette michalska gerard bessette yolande villemare and jacques godbout and a new chapter explores the writing of nicole brossard this study is representative rather than exhaustive as it analyses postmodern textual strategies in terms of discourse intertextuality the representation of the writer in fiction the process of history and feminist expression paterson believes that in order to view a novel from a postmodernist perspective it is necessary to see it as a temporal phenomenon subject to the ambient culture for nearly three quarters of a century the modernist way of reading has been the only way of reading james joyce useful yes and powerful but like all frameworks limited this book takes a leap across those limits into postmodernism where the pleasures and possibilities of an unsuspected joyce are yet to be found kevin j h dettmar begins by articulating a stylistics of postmodernism drawn from the key texts of roland barthes mikhaïl bakhtin and jean françois lyotard read within this framework dubliners emerges from behind its modernist facade as the earliest product of joyce's proto postmodernist sensibility dettmar exposes these stories as tales of mystery not mastery despite the modernist earmarks of plentiful symbols allusions and epiphanies ulysses too has been inadequately served by modernist critics where they have emphasized the work's ingenious homeric structure dettmar focuses instead upon its seams those points at which the narrative willfully joyfully overflows its self imposed bounds finally he reads a portrait of the artist and finnegans wake as less playful less daring texts the first constrained by the precious would be poet at its center the last marking a surprising retreat from the constantly evolving vertiginous experience of ulysses in short the illicit joyce of postmodernism explores what happens when the extra literary pronouncements of eliot pound and joyce as well as joyce's early critics are set aside and a new unauthorized joyce is allowed to appear this postmodern joyce more willful and less easily compartmentalized stands as a counterpoint to the modernist joyce who has perhaps become too familiar the author presents a two tiered analysis that views postmodern legal thought as both a collective intellectual movement and as the work of particular theorists notably friedrich nietzsche michel foucault jacques derrida francois lyotard and richard rorty he concludes that even though postmodern thought does not give rise to a normative theory of right that can be used as a framework for deciding cases it can focus attention on genealogy and discourse and can empower those who have been denied a voice in the legal system annotation copyrighted by book news inc portland or postmodernism and notions of national difference examines the critical construction of postmodern fiction raising the question of whether the construction of postmodernism has sufficiently accounted for national difference geoffrey lord argues that current meta national conceptions of postmodernism need serious reconsideration to take national cultural contexts into account through a comparative investigation of the theoretical debate literary traditions and close textual reading of a number of postmodern texts lord makes a persuasive case for his broad claim that national cultural differences are more persistent and powerful than usually allowed by established theories of postmodernity which claim a general collapse of traditional cultural orders and the meta narratives that justify them seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject literature canada grade 2 0 language english abstract the aim of this term paper is to exemplify the central key features in postmodernism and to analyse in how far margaret atwood manages to make use of them in her novel Alias Grace besides i will concentrate on atwood s strategies to integrate the postmodern features into the novel and to illustrate them to the reader the first part of the term paper will be concerned with a general overview of genette s categories of discourse oriented narratology and the postmodern features fragmentation subjectivity indeterminacy and alienation more precisely i will define these features and will concentrate on the most important characteristics which can be linked to the novel i will mention genette s narrative theory because it is especially important when dealing with fragmentation the second part will be concerned with these postmodern features with reference to Alias Grace concerning fragmentation i am going to illustrate the interchanging narratives in the novel when dealing with subjectivity i will analyse in how far different narratives of the story are subjective by pointing out several passages in which open questions remain and the reader has to interpret on his own i will discuss indeterminacy after doing so i am going to point out in how far fragmentation subjectivity and indeterminacy lead to an alienation of the reader at the end of the term paper a conclusion will be drawn in which one can see in how far atwood uses postmodern elements in her novel
