building on book five's considerations of the person and redemptive deed of Christ book six of Matthias Joseph Scheeben's handbook of Catholic dogmatics offers his account of the subjective realization of salvation through Christ's bestowal of grace this stands as Scheeben's fullest treatment of the much contested notion of actual grace and the issues related to the sixteenth century de auxiliis controversy concerning predestination and how god moves the human will progressing in three parts book six commences with an analysis of the concept of actual grace establishing how god can move the will without compelling it and providing a richly developed context for understanding god s motive influence the second part examines three principal heresies concerning grace namely pelagianism semi pelagianism and the reformation doctrines using these as a basis for evaluating the catholic dogmas about grace that were articulated against them finally in the third part scheeben explores the necessity of grace in light of man s fallen condition and his supernatural end this new study of the intersection of romance novels with vocal music records a society on the cusp of modernisation with a printing industry emerging to serve people s growing appetites for entertainment amidst their changing views of religion and the occult no mere diversion fiction was integral to musical culture and together both art forms reveal key intellectual currents that circulated in the early nineteenth century british home and were shared by many consumers roger hansford explores relationships between music produced in the early 1800s for domestic consumption and the fictional genre of romance offering a new view of romanticism in british print culture he surveys romance novels by ann radcliffe matthew lewis sir walter scott james hogg edward bulwer and charles kingsley in the period 1790 1850 interrogating the ways that music served to create mood and atmosphere enlivened social scenes and contributed to plot developments he explores the connections between musical scenes in romance fiction and the domestic song literature treating both types of source and their intersection as examples of material culture hansford s intersectional reading revolves around a series of imaginative figures including the minstrel fairies mermaids ghosts and witches and christians engaged both in virtue and vice the identities of which remained consistent as influence passed between the art forms while romance authors quoted song lyrics and included musical descriptions and characters their novels recorded and modelled the performance of songs by the middle and upper classes influencing the work of composers and the actions of performers who read romance fiction the problem of creation and grace has a long history of contention within protestant and catholic theology involving not only internecine conflict within the traditions but fueling as well ecumenical debates that have continued a dogmatic divide this volume traces out that conflict in modern catholic and protestant dogmatics and provides a historical genealogy that situates the origin of the problem within different emphases in the thought of st augustine this collection of twenty essays originally presented at the eleventh international conference on the fantastic in the arts contains five parts on fantasists and their work contemporary fantastic theory and practice studies in the british and european fantastic studies in american fantasy and science fiction and sex and techno horror in fantastic literature and film what all the essays here have in common is that their authors are all aware of the tremendous latent power for good and ill of the fantastic text we are given timely reminders of the dangers as well as the appeal of elves and how narrators in fantastic fictions take advantage of our desire to be part of a narrative community we learn how some contemporary fantasists assimilate literary and scientific theory while others seem in their fiction to require a new sociology to account for it life is about the choices we make it explains why god made salvation a choice for god so loved the world that he gave his one and only son that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life john 3 16 the choices we make in life define who we are shapes our path and leads to our ultimate destination in life have you ever looked in the mirror and asked yourself these three simple questions 1 what are the choices that govern my life 2 am i on the right path 3 what is my final destination in my life if you can successfully answer these questions with absolute trust in jesus christ then you know you have made the right choices in your life on the other hand if you can t answer these questions with jesus christ in the equation then you know your life is on the wrong path the truth is part of what makes life very challenging and unpredictable is the fact that you cannot change the past but you can change the path to your future god gives us only one day at a time today is a gift and that s all you have tomorrow is not guaranteed and today may be your last day on earth this book will help you understand god through jesus christ like never before and also help you make the right choices for a better future the kingdom of god should be your number priority and ultimate destination in life jesus is coming soon
